DULL IN WALL STREET

At the Same Time Shares Were Firm on Better Conditions.

Saturday Bank Statement Strong and Fully Up to Expectations-Week's Trade at Indianapolis.

At New York, Saturday, money on call was easy all day at 2 per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 7@9 per cent. Sterling exchange was dull, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.84% @4.85 for demand and $4.83@4.83% for sixty days. Posted rates, $4.84@4.86; commercial bills, $4.81% @4.82. Silver certificates no sales; 731/2c.

The weekly bank statement shows the fol-Reserve, increase...... $4,508,225 Legal tenders, increase...... 3,225,600 Deposits, increase..... 9,215,500 Circulation, increase 544,400

The banks now hold $28,628,726 in excess of the repuirements of the 25 per cent. rule. The loan committee of the New York clearing house yesterday cancelled $400,000 loan certificates and called $780,000 for Monday. Total cancelled last week, $5,560,000; total outstanding, $19,150,000.

The speculation on the New York Stock Exchange Saturday was absolutely without feature as to the shares which generally figure in the daily transactions, only one stock, Whisky, reaching 10,000 shares, and the total sales footed up only 50,000. The changes were mainly confined to fractions, and only three of the active list exceeded a one-per-cent. limit-Whisky, General Electric and Northwest moving within a radius of 11/4 per cent. Taking into consideration the fact that the trading was remarkably light in volume, the market surprisingly firm, and the tendency was for the most part toward better prices. Some shares, however, sagged off for want of supporting orders, and in the final dealings there was a very slight reaction from the best prices of the day, but the tone at the close was strong, and compared with the closing figures of Friday the general list shows advances ranging from 1/8 to 1 per cent. The bank statement, which was quite as favorable as was expected, moved stocks up a fraction when it was made public, but the absence from the street of nearly all the large operators prevented it from having any marked influence on the trading. The heavy increase in deposits was, perhaps, the most agree-able feature of the statement, it having been hardly anticipated that they would approach so nearly a ten-million increase as they did. The cash increase of over $6,000,000 was also regarded as quite satisfactory, and the establishment of a surplus of more than $28,000,000 was accepted as going far toward securely anchoring confidence in the monetary situation. Comparatively speaking, the bond market was more active than the share speculation, and, while in the main firm, some heavy declines were effected. Louisville, New Al-bany & Chicago fives fell 3, and Chicago & Western Indiana general mortgage sixes 1 per cent. The savings banks have not as yet begun to buy back the bonds sold during the recent panic to strengthen their cash reserves, awaiting, undoubtedly, for the result of the duel between the silver and anti-silver forces in the Senate. When they do come into the street a purchaser it is pretty certain that prime securities of the class in which these banks invest will appreciate in value. The ease of the money market in the East is reflected in most of the monetary centers of the country, except in the South, in which stringency prevalls pretty generally, and in Louisville, Cleveland, Detroit, St. Joseph, Omaha and Denver, where money is quoted as rather tight. LOCAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

Trade Hardly Up to Expectations-Values Steady and Firm.

While on two days of the past week trade was quite active, taking the six days as a whole it was not up to expectations. There is a drag to business in most lines, which seems hard to overcome. The steady tone to prices and some improvement in collections has a favorable tendency. Most of the retail merchants are in better shape financially than a year ago, as during the depressed times they have kept close to the shore and collected more promptly than usual. It is also noticeable that they continue buying goods more on the hand-tomouth style. The dry-goods men have experienced a fair trade, but to sell goods they must make some concessions of prices. Grocers are having about their usual volume of trade. The commission men are complaining that they are just beginning to feel the depression in business in the natural-gas territory, which draws its sup-plies of fruits and vegetables from Indian-apolis commission houses. It is stated that the shipments to this territory are 50 per cent. lighter than two months ago and 100 per cent, below the corresponding period last year. Receipts of pourtry and eggs are light and prices firm on an improving demand. The flour market is fairly active at the range of prices of the last sixty days. The hide market is more active, with prices firmer. Provisions are weaker.

The local grain market is spasmodic in its character; a day in which cereals are active and prices stronger is followed by a day of dullness and a weaker tone to prices, but to take a week through the fluctuations in value vary but little. Track bids yes-

A Time to Plant Trees.

Philadelphia Inquirer. This is a good time to plant those trees and small fruits which you intended to put out last spring, but for some reason did not. This is the very best season for such work for the reason, if for no other, that if you do it now it is done, and if you put it off again it may never be done. Before placing your order for the stock look about and see if there is anything in the fruit line your local market is short of, and then plant with a view of supplying that demand. No matter how good a fruit re-gion you may be in you will almost al-ways find some item neglected, and that will be your opportunity. For one thing, few markets are so well supplied with currants as they should be, and this is one of the most profitable of the small fruits. Another good point in favor of growing them is that they come quickly into bearing, so that you do not have to wait long | Quotations at St. Louis, Philadelphia, for a return for your labor. Peaches are a profitable crop, even if you do not succeed in getting a yield more than one year in three, and the farther north you are, within such limits as they will grow, the more profit will you find in them. Do not make the mistake of going into the same thing all your neighbors are producing already, for

GRAIN WEAKER AGAIN

Both Corn and Wheat Lost a Cent During Saturday's Business.

Increase in the Visible Hurt Wheat, and a Disposition to Sell Knocked Out Corn-Provisions Firm.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7 .- To-day's markets were narrow, but the heavy feeling in grain continued. In wheat the prospect of an increase in the visible, the light exports and liberal primary receipts tended to depress prices. Evening up was the order, on account of the holiday Monday and the government report Tuesday. Wheat and corn each closed about 1c under yesterday's resting quotations. Provisions were firm, and closed 5@15c higher. Wheat started 1/2014c lower, recovered slightly and fluctuated within %c range. The export clearances from both coasts, of wheat and flour, were about 200,000 bushels smaller, and from the Atlantic seaboard and gulf ports were about 480,000 bushels less of wheat than the preceding week. The receipts in the Northwest were larger, and at primary markets for the week were a little in excess of the preceding week, and an increase from a million to two million bushels in the visible supply is expected against an increase of 3,550,000 bushels the corre-sponding week a year ago. In corn, more disposition was manifested to sell futures and buy the May early. Later the reverse conditions prevailed. Local bulls seem to have lost courage, and many operators who were recently long good-sized lines have unloaded and are expecting further declines. On any indication of weakness they aid the decline by selling freely. Some of the larger sellers of yesterday again disposed of a good deal to-day, while many of the shorts were inclined to take profits. There was a fair trade in May oats, but the other months were slow. The close was steady for October, but 1/201/4c lower for the other months. The provision trade is very slow, attracting outside speculation. Orders today were for the most part to buy for Jan-

17%c in January pork, 2%c in October, and from .05c to .07%c in January lard. October ribs are .10c lower and January ribs .10c higher. Freights were dull and rates easy at 34c for wheat and 2c for corn to Buffalo. Estimated receipts for Monday are: Wheat, 160 cars; corn, 750 cars; oats, 265 cars; hogs, 22,000. The leading futures ranged uary delivery. There was a firm feeling during the entire session, but prices got their main lift in the last five minutes.

Compared with closing prices yesterday, the principal changes are an advance of SUMVER AND LINCOLN. How the Great President Mollified the Senator at Times. Washington Letter in New York Sun.

No member of the present United States Senate answers more nearly to Charles Summer in Lincoln's time, and to his relations to Sumner than Charles Hill, though the points of similarity in Sumner and Hill are very remote. It fre-quently happened that Mr. Lincoln had reason for feeling displeased with the Massachusetts Senator, but they never quarreled. It was not always Sumner that pre-vented a rupture. Lincoln would not have it. Not infrequently, when the provocation was greatest, the great President would see that such a thing did not happen. On more than one occasion he started out from the White House, his mind almost overburdened with concern, Sumner's course and disposition, as they had been reported to him, being among the principal causes. Entering the Senator's quarters the wearied President would say: "Sumner, I have come over to see you for a little advice and a cup of tea." Sumner prided himself on the way he could brew a cup of tea, and was always prepared for it when guests of importance came. "I want the tea first. It so cheers me and it seems there is none so cheers me, and it seems there is none like that you make." The Senator, touched in a weak spot, would prepare the excel-lent beverage, and then Lincoln would ask his advice about some matters, regarding which he felt the need of none, but it served his purpose. Sumner would proceed to expatiate on the subject started and Lincoln would be instructed and relieved. Then would follow another cup of tea, probably two, Sumner expatiating on the best way to make it. Most likely Mr. Lincoln would then take his hat as if to leave, but remembering, seemingly, the matter which weighed on his mind most, and regarding which a disagreeable difference on Sumner's part had been reported to him, he would draw out the mollified Senator, and in the discussion which followed-Lincoln standing as if the matter was only something inci dental-the two were brought near together, Sumner being brought far more nearly to Lincoln than Lincoln to Sumner. In the end the ground for an understanding was found, an agreement speedily followed, and in this way the two continued to be friends by the use of tact on the part of one to which the other, by having the singular qualities of his character brought into action by a master hand, readily yielded. What history was made, what events controlled by the wisdom of the great Prezident who can tell? Present events are powerful reminders of what a President should be when important questions are at stake.

Late Fruit.

If for any cause the gradual accumulation of the usual winter stores of preserved fruit has not been made, there is still time to make amends. The late fruit is still available, and for the winter stock one may do very well now.

Quinces, pears, grapes and apples, among our Northern fruit, are abundant through the fall, and these alone, in various forms, can be made to produce a brave show on the shelves of the storeroom. Both apples and quinces make a very fine jelly, and the two combine to good advantage. On the farm it is worth while to try a number of kinds of apples, making a glass or two from each to test the variety. The excel-lence of the Astrachan for this purpose has been pointed out in these columns, but many other fall and winter apples make delicious jelly. Red apples give the finest color, and need only be wiped and boiled without paring—core and skin are both of value; slice two or three times for quicker cooking, add very little water and strain through a bag with only very gentle pressure. If the juice is obtained in this way, equal quantities of sugar and fruit juice, boiled together for eight or ten minutes, will make a firm, delicate jelly.

Quince jelly is made in the same manner. But if it is necessary to economize the fruit more strictly, the stems and cores must be boiled separately, and the puip, from which most of the juice has been drained, will make a very fair marmalade still. For this purpose add four pounds of sugar to seven of fruit and boil thoroughly, after putting the quinces through a colender or strainer. Add a third of some juicy, tart apple if an increase of quantity withtart apple, if an increase of quantity with-out loss of quality is wanted. Of course, the proportion of sugar is to the whole quantity of fruit. Various gleanings from the garden or field, such as unripe watermelons, citron melons, green tomatoes and the like, will help in eking out any lack at this late day. For these and similar material a rich syrup must be made and flavored by the use of lemons, ginger or cinnamon. The allowance of sugar should be nearly pound for pound. Any hard fruit like green to-matoes should be first sliced and boiled with a little water until easily pierced by a straw. Then simmer slowly in the syrup until an almost transparent clearness indicates that the cooking has reached its perfection. Take up the fruit with a skimmer and pour the syrup over it. Precise directions for preserving can never be relied upon, as the time required depends upon so many varying circumstances-the condition of the fruit, size of the pan or kettle used, and the degree of heat. Skill and judgment will never cease to be in requisition, but they will come with prac-

Apples and oranges preserved together make a choice dish of preserves "to set before a king." So that even if the store closet is empty when the frost comes, we need not despair. Even in midwinter we may rise to the emergency.

INDIANAPOLIS JOURNAL

DAILY.

SUNDAY AND

The Journal's price for daily is only 15 cents a week, and it has a very wide circulation, reaching a large number of people hitherto unable to afford the luxury of a first-class daily paper. Reports from agents and subscribers indicate a continued increase, and that what used to be regarded as a luxury has become a necessity. The new readers not only remain, but they are constantly increasing.

It is the purpose of the Journal to make itself even more indispensable to its patrons, new and old, and to still further widen its field. To this end it will not only endeavor to maintain the characteristics which have established its reputation as by far the best newspaper in Indiana, but will add such new features and improvements from time to time as are in accord with journalistic progress and that may tend to the advantage of its readers. It will, for example, give increased attention to State and local interests. What Indianians want is a paper in which Indiana affairs given are especial prominence and importance. This want the Journal has always supplied as no other paper published outside or inside the State is able to do; but the rapidly developing industries and business and social enterprises of the community call for additional consideration and space, With this in view its corps of correspondents has been increased until ithas a representative in nearly every town in the State Special traveling correspondents will visit the news centers of the State at frequent intervals, thus insuring the "write up" of every important event or matter of general interest.

Being published in the geographical center of Indiana the Journal is afforded unusual facilities for securing news promptly, and, what is of greater consequence, is able to reach its subscribers without delay. The ruuning of morning trains from Indianapolis is very favorable to the early distribution of papers sent by mail or express, and in most towns within a radius of a hundred miles Journals are delivered as early as in the city where they are printed. In the more remote counties there is but little loss of time in trans-

The Journal is the paper for Indianians and particularly for Indiana Republicans. The change of administration involves the settlement of political problems likely to be of the most direct personal concern to every farmer and business man in the State. All such matters will be set forth in detail, the Journal's Washington correspondent being instructed to give especial attention to every hing having a possible bearing on Indiana interests.

But though the Journal is Republican in politics it is non-partisan in the publication of news. Its constantendeavor is to secure facts unbiased by prejudice and to make its columns trustworthy records of each day's happenings. A large editorial force supplements the work of the press associations and the correspondents, and furnishes careful supervision for each department.

The Sunday Journal has a well-established literary character, superior to that of any Western paper. It is not defaced by "plate matter" nor filled with a heterogeneous mass of syndicate literature, but its contributions and miscellany are chosen with a view to their special fitness and adaptability to the tastes of the readers. The reading matter in any given number of the Sunday Journal is equal in quantity and is not inferior in quality to that found in the leading magazines. As an educ .tional adjunct and a source of entertainment the Sunday Journal is indispensable in every well-regulated family. The Weekly Journal, at $1 per year, contains more reading matter than can be obtained for the money in any other shape. It is carefully edited and offer the news of the week in condensed shape and a variety of miscellany, agricultural and hous hold literature that render it one of the best invest. ments that any family can make. Try it and see. It has a large circulation in this and other States and agents find it an easy matter to secure large lists of subscribers. Special inducements offered to agents.
